Quinta do Regueiro

It is in 1988, in the most northerly point of Portugal, in the heart of Monção and Melgaço, the territory of excellence for Vinhos Verdes, that the history of Quinta do Regueiro begins. Located in Côto, parish of Alvaredo, municipality of Melgaço, this family business took its first steps with the planting of the first 3 ha of 100% Alvarinho vines.

Anselmo Mendes Winemaker

Is recognised not only for the excellence of the wines he produces but also for the surprising and consistent way he innovates. Combining the use of age-old techniques, such as fermentation on skins, with bold winemaking methods such as the fermentation of Alvarinho in oak casks, he is established in Portugal and abroad with an original design and his own identity.

Kranemann Wine Estates

Kranemann Wine Estates in Tavora, Portugal, is a wine and wine tourism project envisaged by Christoph Kranemann, a German Canadian wine connoisseur. A visit to Quinta do Convento de São Pedro das Águias, a flagship property, ended a 20 year search of wine regions across three continents for a unique terroir to produce outstanding wines. The Quinta dates back to the XII century, a perfect backdrop for a love of history and architecture. Kranemann Wine Estates became a reality in 2018, following the purchase of the flagship property from a Canadian mining company, becoming the key to a new winemaking and wine tourism project in the Távora Valley.

Quinta da Pedra Escrita

In 2007 Rui Roboredo Madeira recovered Quinta da Pedra Escrita, in his family for over 8 generations, with 17 ha of vineyards located in the sub-region Douro Superior. Dry and arid soils are predominantly granitic, sandy and very poor in nutrients. The vineyard was planted here in the belief that the granite soils at altitude give rise to wines with extremely complex aromas and great longevity as in the past.

This is a tradition that he want to bring back to a world of increasingly stereotyped wines, and which emphasizes the unique character of the wines from the Douro region.

Rui Roboredo Madeira

He was brought up in his family's heartlands in the Douro Superior, Portugal, a remote yet magical corner of the Iberian Peninsula. Having travelled through many of the winemaking regions of the world and learned about their practice, he returned to the family vineyards, convinced of their great potential to make world class wines. He has been making wine in this region for more than 20 years.

Adega Cooperativa de Cantanhede

Founded in 1954, is one of the most reputed wine-producing companies of Portugal, located in the demarcated wine-growing region of Bairrada, in the city of Cantanhede. With about 500 active associated wine-growers and harvesting about 6-8 million kilos of grapes per year, this firm is the biggest producer of its region (representing around 40% of the total production) and certifies about 80% of its production with the Bairrada DOC and Beira Atlântico Indicação IGP designations.

Beyra's Vineyard

Among the highest vineyards of Portugal was the motto to release the Beyra project in 2011, with the pioneering concept of Altitude Wines. Since the first time it has become the flagship brand of the Beira Interior wine region. The terroir's richness of the Douro river basin, the transition soils from the schist of the valley to the granite of the mountains nearby, with high amounts of quartz veins, were the inspiration to plant vineyards on the land next to the winery. Beyra's vineyard seeks to combine innovation in viticulture in a region dominated by old vineyards, perfectly adapted to the rigors of altitude, being one of the hidden treasures of the large vineyard heritage of Portugal.

Adega Cartuxa (Fundação Eugénio de Almeida)

Behind Adega Cartuxa is a great family, the Eugénio de Almeida family. In 1913, Vasco Maria was born in Lisbon into one of the most influential families of the 19th century. The family had extensive heritage in Évora and Alentejo, Vasco Maria always considered people to be the most valuable asset and he organised all his life around this philosophy. Among other achievements he revitalise winemaking and planted a vast area of olive groves just a few kilometres from Évora, which resulted in the wines and olive oils produced to this day.

Fonseca

The house of Fonseca traces its origins to the early nineteenth century. The first evidence of the firm trading in Port is an entry dated 8th April, 1815, in the ledgers of the Real Companhia Velha, the royal monopoly company. This records the purchase of 32 pipes of Port by the firm's founder, João dos Santos Fonseca. His first documented sale occurred on 14th September, 1815, followed in 1816 by his first overseas shipment. In the period that followed, João dos Santos Fonseca's business prospered.

Founded in 1820 by brothers William and John Graham, Graham's port quickly become known as a producer of exceptional ports. This success culminated in the building of the Graham's Lodge in Gaia and the acquisition of Quinta dos Malvedos in 1890. In 1882, Andrew James Symington sailed from Scotland to Porto to work for the Graham family, thus beginning the long association between the families. In 1970, Andrew's grandson acquired the company from the Graham family, and have continued to grow its reputation from producing incredible ports.
